For JOHN BREADEN it was the trip of a lifetime. “Last year when I heard about the Jabiru being purchased, I decided to get in quick, so I chased Albert down and booked in with him. I got the call on Tuesday going Thursday, so I checked in with the two Boss’s - the one at work and the one at home and all o.k. so I was in Brisbane on Thursday.”

HISTORIC MOMENT
 A. Jabiru J160 touches down at Cambridge R. cabin interior and Albert and the trip home.

“The flight back was impressive the Jabiru is no slow coach, on the third day coming home 100 - 110 kts really zipping along, it didn’t miss a beat.” said John.

“The Jabiru is something I’m interested in flying, I’ve just got to master the landings, ask Albert about that one! It’s not like landing a Cessna, this one you’ve got to fly all the way down, just a different approach, same speeds and everything.” John said.

For new flyers a Pilot Certificate will cost you $3,500. Trial flights from a low $85.

John enthusiastically added “I’d say to anyone go for it, get an endorsement on the J160, definitely, you will be really surprised at how well it flies.”
