Mini Time Trials Route

The object is to have all aircraft on the ground at the Jericho strip by 10.30 am. at the latest. To achieve this time frame, the course and flight plan should be done at home prior to your arrival at Cambridge. The calculation of wind can quickly be applied and all you need do is dial your speed, attend the briefing and be strapped in ready for take off. It will be a case of go when you are ready, and I calculate a 172 at 1 hour flying time plus a driver change with circuit, landing and taxi 30 minutes, so last take off with margin is at 08.45 am.

To get us out of the way of the big boys, and track direct to CREM 1500V. Find OE 2nd's fathers namesake, turn here. Q. "When is a lagoon not a lagoon" A. "When it's a Bay". Anyway, from here descend to 500 and take in the scenery as you follow the surf line north to the end of the beach. It's "more of an art" job to find the next point on the map, but if you solve this "riddle", you are on your way to a romantic interlude where you can change positions (on the ground) "no kissing in the cockpit Darlings", remember your airmanship, use the radio, and be aware other aircraft are in your vicinity. Back in the air again. Now it's time to head for a cup of tea so if you had a WOOD FIRE, where would you keep the kettle? You've had your cup of tea, but you will need to refill the kettle. You will find water 7 miles away. You should have found your water by now and moved on. "Lament" if you misaed the fire and the watering hole, but a left turn here will take you to the train station (which is 3 miles from your destination). And a good time to radio your intention to land. In biblical history, Joshua fought the battle of Jericho, but lets us not get into a tangle here. Re visit your notes from the briefing on circuit procedures. Happy landings and enjoy the historic properties. PS. Don't forget your camera!

Each competing aircraft will need to have a digital camera, either video or stills to record the turning points.
